The Mid-Atlantic Seminar on Hearing (MASH) focuses on cochlear-implant research. This conference is open to all students, clinicians, and scientists to share their research, network, and meet others in the field. There will be short talks and active discussion. Researchers with “works in progress” on cochlear implants or areas relevant to cochlear implants are highly encouraged to present their current findings. Vocoder research is welcome. All are welcome to engage, discuss, share, and learn!
